NEWS SUMMARY.

BY TELEGRAPH.

George W. Childs, proprietor of the Philadelphia Ledger, has donated the title of a valuable burial lot to the Typographical Society of that city.

The noted pugilist Hamilton, who was shot on election day in Philadelphia by a police officer while resisting arrest, has died from his injuries.

John Hack, a resident of Philadelphia, attempted to murder his wife on Saturday and then shot half of his own head off. He died yesterday and the wife will recover.

George Francis Train has been notified by cable of his nomination to Congress in the Fifth District of New York. The committee urged him to pay the claims against him and return at once. The committee yesterday received a dispatch accepting the nomination, and stated that he had offered the money to pay all the claims, and it had been refused, as his imprisonment is for purely political reasons.

The New York Times estimates the Democratic majority in New York and Brooklyn in November at sixty-nine thousand, and claims the State for Grant by six thousand.

Col. J. A. Smith, City Auditor of Nashville, died yesterday of consumption.

The Democrats have nominated Mr. John G. Schumaker and General Slocum in the Brooklyn Districts for Congress. The Republican nominees are Messrs. Henry S. Bellows and Samuel Booth.

The naturalizations in New York thus far are about fifteen thousand, and in Brooklyn nearly three thousand.

A warrant was issued on Saturday night by the United States District Court of Northern Ohio for the arrest of Hon. E. F. Dickinson, of Fremont, Democratic Congressman elect for the Ninth District of Ohio, and also Probate Judge of Sandusky county, on a charge of issuing fraudulent naturalization papers to secure his own election. ADDRESS FROM G. F. TRAIN.

His Advice to the Irishmen.

Spain.

MADRID, October 19.—The Junta has issued an address on the future form of the Spanish government, saying it will not only be the duty of the Cortes to decide thereupon, but that all people will be allowed to express opinions. Olozaga has declared for a monarchy, supported by Serrano and Topete. The Unionists and Democrats are willing to accept a monarchy or a republic if decided by universal suffrage.

PARIS, October 19.—General Prim has addressed a letter to the editor of the Gaulois, indignantly repelling the charges of personal ambition made against him by that journal. The General disclaims all pretensions to royalty, and declares he would rather leave the country than accept the crown. Hon. John P. Hale, United States Minister, has frequent audiences with Generals Serrano and Prim.

Audience Refused.

DUBLIN, October 19.—Marquis Abercorn refused an audience to a Limerick delegation on behalf of the Fenian prisoners.

DUBLIN, October 19.—George Francis Train has published an address to the American people, bidding Irishmen to vote for Grant, and adducing proofs to show that the Democratic party is friendly to England. Foreign Naval and Military Matters.

Major George Vincent Fosberg, of the Bengal Staff Corps, writes to the Engineer in regard to the reported extraordinary effects of the Chassepot bullet. He thinks the accounts of the wounds inflicted, though perhaps exaggerated, tolerably consistent in ascribing to them a conical form, small at the point of entrance, and greatly enlarged at the point of exit. He goes on to say:

[illegible]

The system of converting smooth-bore guns into rifled ordinance, invented by Mr. P. M. Parsons, has recently been tested at Shoeburyness, with satisfactory results. Mr. Parsons laid his plans before the British war office nearly eight years ago, and meanwhile has conducted experiments, by order of the French Emperor, with the 6.5 calibre gun, which also are reported as having been successful. The system of Mr. Parsons which is said to promise to become a formidable opponent to that of Major Palliser, consists in introducing a reinforced tube of tough steel into the gun through its breech end (the gun being properly bored out for the purpose) [illegible]

Save the Dead Leaves.

If every horticulturist and farmer would think for a moment on the nature of fallen leaves—which contain not only the vegetable matter, but the earthy salts, lime, potash, &c., needed for the next season's growth and fertility—and that, too, exactly in the proportion required by the tree or plant from which they fall; may, more, if they would consider that it is exactly in this way, by the decomposition of these very fallen leaves, that nature enriches the soil, year after year, in her great forests, it would hardly be possible for such a reflecting horticulturist or farmer to allow these leaves to be swept away by every wind, and finally lost altogether. Nor would he give them away, as many now do. He would rather collect, from week to week, the leaves that fall under each tree, and by digging them under the sod about the roots, where they will decay, provide in the cheapest manner the best possible food for his tree. If this plan should be tried we should not see old orchards dying out for want of nourishment; but they would, in this simple manner, receive all the enriching they required. Pear trees, and doubtless the peach, would be greatly benefitted by this procedure. In certain vineyards in France and Italy, the vines are kept in the highest condition by simply burying at their roots every leaf and branch that is pruned off, or falls from the vines at the close of the season. Will not some of our farmers of inquiring minds give this simple process a trial this season? It is a well known fact that no manure is more eagerly sought for by the florist than leaf manure. It enters largely into the compost prepared for potting. Leaves collected and mixed with barnyard manure, greatly enhance its value. Therefore gather up the leaves that nothing shall be lost!

FROM STEUBENVILLE, OHIO.

Republican Rejoicing—How the News from Allegheny County was Received—Intense Enthusiasm—Passenger Receipts of Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway—Discontinuance of First National Bank—The Steubenville Female Seminary.

Special Correspondence of Pittsburgh Commercial.

STEUBENVILLE, October 17, 1868.

Election night was the occasion of an enthusiasm not soon to be forgotten in this city. The report, circulated before seven o'clock, that the Republicans had made gains in every voting precinct, drew an immense crowd to the Grant headquarters. Robert Sherrard, President of the Grant Club, was at his post; the "Grand Army" and the Grant Club were in full force; the Beattys, Blinn, Gen. A. G. McCook, Col. Holliday, the McGowans, Walden and scores of other workers, to whom we are indebted for the magnitude of our local victory, were there. Indeed not one Republican of prominence was missing, except Judge Jewett, the President of the Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway, whose services to the Republican party cannot be over estimated. Runners brought the telegrams, which were read by Col. Beard. Gains everywhere in Ohio. The clouds were lifting and the people rejoiced. Indiana sent nothing. From Pennsylvania the news was meagre and unsatisfactory. The first great enthusiasm came with a private telegram from John A. Bingham, announcing his certain election. The flood gates were now open, and the full flood of enthusiasm came when old Allegheny announced her nine thousand majority. The glee club sang "Sherman's March to the Sea." Colonel Holliday, mounting the President's table, with swinging hat and thundering voice, led the chorus, and scores of voices that shouted in the charge on McAllister, and joined in Sherman's jubilee when it fell, now "helped swell the wild hurrah." The future was no longer dark or doubtful. Let New York, New Jersey, or the South go as it may, Grant's success was assured, and there was cause for the great joy that Republicans gave tongue to.

This (Jefferson) county fully redeemed itself, giving the Republican nominees a larger number of votes than was ever before given any of its candidates except the lamented Lincoln, in 1864. The official vote, not hitherto correctly published, is, for Secretary of State, Republican 3,305; Democrat 2,267; Republican majority 1,038. For Congress, Ambler, Republican, had 3,263, and Lawson, Democrat, 2,211; Ambler's majority 1,052. The highest vote was received by Wm. F. Simeral, our popular and efficient Auditor, he having 3,316 votes against 2,190 given his opponent. The total vote of the county is 5,552, that being 341 greater than the vote of 1867, 553 over the vote of 1866 and 1,153 in excess of the vote cast in October, 1864. The Republican vote has steadily increased from October, 1860, when it was 2,444, to October, 1865, when it was 2,785, thence to 3,210 in 1866, and 3,305, its highest vote, this year. But we are not content with this. The command to "stack arms" has not been given, nor will it be until final and complete victory is fully assured. Republicans are as wide awake and vigilant as ever. They know that no endurance can resist the coming wave, but they agitate that the "tidal wave" may come in a wall so high and crush with a power so obliterative that there may be nothing left from which to raise a new crop of enemies or dangerous agitators. Already fruits of this work are visible. Many who voted against us on last Tuesday now declare their intention to vote for Grant, and there is no reason to doubt that Grant's majority will be from 400 to 700 greater than was our majority on the 13th inst. In 1864 the Union majority at the October election was 1,251, but Lincoln's majority three weeks later was 2,043. This result was not obtained by the falling off of votes on both sides, but by the work and confidence which drew to Lincoln 50 more votes than was given the State ticket, and the certainty of defeat which kept 802 Democrats from voting for the great loser of opportunities. The difference may not be so great this year, but do not be surprised if it is. Grant has a habit of "gobbling" up great multitudes, and now there are multitudes like Lee's ragged grey-backs quite willing to be "gobbled."

The Pittsburgh, Cincinnati and St. Louis Railway, the principal office of which is now permanently located in this city, is every day acquiring a juster right to the patronage it is receiving. Judge Jewett, its President, Mr. W. W. Card, its Superintendent, and Mr. D. Brock, his assistant, devote themselves unremittingly to its interests, and from all who come in contact with them they are winning golden opinions for the liberality they extend to the patrons of the road, and the persistence with which they increase its ability to accommodate them and render freight and passenger transit over it speedy and secure. The passenger receipts of the road for the twelve months ending September 30th were $611,386, an excess of $39,851 over the corresponding period in 1866-7. The greatest receipts during any one month were those of last month (September), $67,365 90, that being $14,340 more than the receipts of September, 1867. The increase during the months of June, July and August over the corresponding months last year is, in June, $3,615; July $7,907 and August $8,747. To the friends of the road this is a very gratifying exhibit, and I believe I can assure them that there is even more than a relative increase in its freight business.

The First National Bank of this city has gone into liquidation. Robert Sherrard, its President, and William Mooney, have formed a banking partnership, styled R. Sherrard & Co. They have the rooms of the First National, and settle up its business.

The popular Steubenville Female Seminary begins its next session on November 11th. Hitherto the year has been divided into two sessions, beginning in April and October, during which most if not all the pupils went to their homes, some of them located almost as far away as the western border of Iowa. Forty years ago, when this Seminary was founded, there was no network of railroads by which its pupils could go home and return, [illegible]

MERVINE.

Importance of Clearing Land of Weeds.

Every intelligent farmer or gardener admits that a luxuriant crop of cereals, roots or vegetables of any kind cannot be raised on soil overrun with weeds. Yet very few take effectual steps to eradicate them. The reason of the great superiority of drill husbandry over the old broadcast system is that it admits the plow, drill-harrow, cultivator, etc., to work between the drills while the plants are growing, by which means the soil is stirred up and pulverized and weeds destroyed. The faculty of weeding drilled crops, and the fine preparation of the soil by this mode of tillage, gave rise to the various systems of rotation of crops, for it became evident that every field on the farm might be improved by the production of well manured and well managed green crops in drills. Each cereal crop has its particular green crop, after which it thrives best. Thus, after turnips, barley succeeds best; after grass, oats; after potatoes and beans, wheat. When several crops of wheat, or any other cereal, are raised on the same soil without the intervention of a green crop, weeds grow up, ripen their seeds and establish themselves firmly in the soil. In harvesting the crop, the weeds cannot be separated from it; afterwards they become mixed with the grain and are ground up with it; thus adulterating the flour. Some of the seeds of weeds are blown out with the chaff and mixed with the manure in the barnyard, carried out to fields and again sown with the crops, thus perpetuating their noxious species at the expense of every kind of cultivated crop.

If rotation of crops and drill husbandry had been universally practiced in the United States for the last fifty years, we would not have one believer in the theory of transmutation of wheat into chess, because the noxious weed would find no abiding place under the improved system of husbandry. None but pure seed would be sown, and such a thing as wheat after wheat would not be heard of. [illegible]—Western Rural.

Woman's Rights in France.

The tidal wave of woman's rights and wrongs has reached France and just now appears to be running at its height. A number of meetings have been held in the building called "Le Vauxhall," in Paris, and have not only been well attended and spiritedly addressed, but have attracted the attention of the entire press and the general public. The most prominent of the speakers was a young unmarried woman named Maxime Breuil, (the French Anna Dickinson, most of our contemporaries would call her) who has achieved a brilliant success as an orator. Her speeches have been printed and elicited various comments from the Paris journals. Figaro describes her theories as "not only absurd but disgusting." Le Temps, on the other hand, speaks of her "eloquent and generous pages" and "noble and sincere language."

Mademoiselle Breuil asserts the equality of the sexes without exception, but does not want to see women put into immediate possession of their natural political rights. In this she differs with most of her colaborers in this country and in England. The following is a translation of a paragraph, addressed to her male auditors, in a recent speech: "You have learned yourselves, and at your own expense, what is the cost of handling without previous instruction this dangerous weapon, for each time it has exploded in your unskillful hands it has wounded your children and your best friends. Before you confide it to women—and it will be your duty one day to do so—you must enlighten them; and, in the meantime, you must continue to bear alone the responsibility of the lamentable incapacity of which you have given proof hitherto. In presence of this incapacity, and while bearing with you the burden of its grievous results, we may without temerity assert that women might have done better, and there is great consolation in thinking that at any rate they could not have done worse! Be that as it may, their moral atrophy (the result of a prolonged state of tutelage) renders them unfit to use their civic rights; they must, therefore, abstain until such time as they are better prepared. Nevertheless, these rights are indefeasible."

CITY MATTERS.

RELIGIOUS.—Rev. W. H. Locke, of the M. E. Church, preached to a large and appreciative audience at Hazelwood, Twenty-third ward, on Sunday night.

THE PIONEER CLUB.—The Second Ward Grant Club will hold a meeting this evening. All persons having caps, capes or lamps belonging to the club are requested to return them to the hall this evening.

A DESCENT.—The Allegheny police made a descent on a house of doubtful reputation on Middle street, that city, and captured three men and two women, who were sent to jail by Mayor Drum yesterday.

PERSONAL.—James Lindsey, a former Pittsburgher, but now Assistant Foreman of the Pennsylvania Fire Engine Company, of Altoona, is in the city on a brief visit to his friends.

SLIGHT FIRE.—The alarm of fire from Box 31, Neptune Engine House, at a quarter before twelve o'clock last evening, was caused by the discovery of smoke issuing from the tobacco store of L. H. Harton, No. 191 Smithfield street. The flames were soon extinguished, and the damage will not exceed fifty dollars.

ARREST OF AN ALLEGED BURGLAR.—On Sunday night the house of Mr. Wuffmith, in the Seventh Ward, was entered by a burglar, who obtained access through a window in the lower part of the house. He proceeded up stairs to a room where Mr. Huffmith was lying sick in bed, and his daughter Louisia lying in a bed on the other side of the room. The gas was burning, and Mrs. Huffmith observing the burglar, rose up in bed, whereupon the thief snatched a watch, which was hanging on the wall, ran down stairs and out to the street. Yesterday officer Murdock arrested a man giving his name as John Clark, as the thief. Miss Huffmith identified him, and he was committed to jail for a hearing before Alderman Mays.

Distressing Fatal Accident.

A most distressing and fatal accident occurred on the Pittsburgh, Fort Wayne and Chicago Railroad, at Freedom, Beaver county, about dark on Saturday evening last. A farmer named James Wolf, residing in the vicinity, was hauling a load of stone homeward, and, at the time mentioned, drove upon the crossing of the railroad. The wind was blowing very hard at the time, and probably prevented the unfortunate man hearing the express train, which was swiftly approaching, going West. He did not discover the train until his horses were upon the track, and when he did see it he made every effort to get the team across. The animals had just cleared the track when the train came up at full speed, every effort to check it in so short a distance having been unavailing, and struck the wagon, dashing it to pieces and throwing Mr. Wolf to the track. He was run over by the entire train and literally cut to pieces. A gentleman who was near, informs us that for several rods the track was strewn with the unfortunate man's flesh, limbs and entrails. Deceased was about forty years of age and leaves a wife and four sons.

Pedestrianism.

The so-called Madame Moore has just been distinguishing herself by accomplishing the feat of walking fifty miles in ten hours, fifteen minutes and twenty-five seconds. She is said to have been accompanied fifteen miles by Col. Thomas O'Brien, of Troy, New York, seven miles by Thomas Bendon and also some distance by Young McCann. She was among the Trojans at last accounts, having been engaged to walk in a few days at Rensselaer Park.

Topley, the English champion, offers all sorts of challenges to his pedestrian rivals, and among the many are the following: That he will walk Weston and give him two miles start; that he will walk Haydock one hundred miles level; that he will walk four miles while any runner goes six, and adds that he will stake $1,000 against $2,000 that he will walk twenty-one miles, fair heel and toe, in three hours.

A sport named Dan Corbett bet he would jump from the bridge spanning the Susquehanna at Tonawanda, Pa., to the water below, a distance of forty feet. He made the leap, but striking the water on his stomach, sunk and was seen no more.

A foot race came off at Harrisburg between Thomas McNeely, of Ohio, and Nick Abrams, of Philadelphia, for $100 a side; distance, half a mile. McNeely won the race by three yards. Time, 2:27½.

EXPERIMENT IN FEEDING COWS.—In the correspondence of the Ohio Farmer occurs the following: I have had twenty-five cows to milk, and found timothy and wild grass the best. To feed in winter use shorts, ground oats, shorts and corn meal; shorts make more milk than clear meal; oats ground do better than either; but corn meal with shorts make richer milk, but more of it. I have fed potatoes largely; they do tolerably well, but milk a day or two old gets strong. Rutabaga turnips and carrots would not do for me to make butter from the milk, but of all the roots I ever tried, sugar beet is the best. I heard pumpkins were good to make milk, and tried them. I had twelve milkers; I divided them, fed six with pumpkins three weeks, and all run on grass alike. Those that had pumpkins gave not a gill more milk than the others, but I believe it was a little richer.

ON CATARRH.

Among civilized communities there is no disease more prevalent, more universally offensive, more productive of discomfort, or more liable to give rise to a variety of distressing and dangerous complications than Catarrh. In its progressive stages of development, the senses of smell and taste are frequently lost, hearing and sight often suffer severe injury. Throat Affections, Asthma and Bronchial Complaints are successively introduced, and Consumption is almost its inevitable result.

Catarrh usually manifests itself at first in the cavity of the nose, but spreading beyond its primary seat, it soon penetrates into every cell, crevice and cavity of the head with which the nasal passages communicate, and at length becomes diffused over the entire extent of the muco-pulmonary tract.

The earliest, most prominent and characteristic features of Catarrh is a discharge from the head, consisting sometimes of a clear acrid fluid, but oftener of a thick purulent yellow or greenish yellow matter, which is usually secreted in excessive abundance, and assumes a very fetid odor. This purulent substance is discharged as a thick offensive fluid, or in hard flakes through the nostrils or throat, and frequently by both channels.

In many instances the discharge is of a very tenacious or gummy character, adhering to the diseased membrane with glue-like tenacity, and is removable only with great difficulty. This fact is more particularly noticed on rising in the morning, because during sleep the purulent secretion hardens and accumulates with greater facility.

The efforts to relieve the head, at those times, by hawking or blowing the nose, are, therefore, frequently most distressing to the one affected, and most disagreeable to those around him. Often they have to be so violent and persistent that the lungs and chest become strained and sore, nausea, retching, and even vomiting ensues, and severe headache or dizziness not unusually follows, and augments the general distress. In some cases even the most powerful efforts may fail to clear the head, until some food or stimulant is swallowed, and after which the viscid secretion becomes somewhat softened, and is then discharged more readily.

Again, the offensive matter concerts into dry, hard masses or crusts, which obstruct breathing, and are very difficult to detach, their dislodgment often requiring the most violent efforts. Sometimes these incrustations come away in small hard lumps, or fragments of a deep green tint, but occasionally broad and flat casts of notable size are expelled, on which traces of blood may at times be observed. This condition is very liable to run on to serious ulceration, involving a loss of the bony structure of the nose, and a consequent flattening of that organ.

In cases where the discharge is copious, and of a loose and fluid character, it frequently disturbs the sufferer's rest by the necessity of frequent expectoration, because the purulent fluid is naturally more apt to run into the throat when, as during sleep, the head is thrown back. Should expectoration be neglected, as may occasionally happen during heavy sleep, the invalid is startled from his rest by a sensation of choking, caused by the filling up of the throat with the accumulated secretion from the head.

The nasal membrane is usually very much thickened and congested, causing the nose to be stopped up sometimes on one side, and sometimes on the other, and often on both, giving rise to a disagreeable stuffy sensation in the head, and occasionally to violent paroxysms of sneezing.

The thickened condition of the mucous membrane, and the collection of the purulent matter in the nasal canals interferes with respiration through the nose, and obliges persons so affected to breathe through the open mouth, a practice very deleterious at all times, but more particularly so during sleep, which, under such circumstances, is always restless and accompanied by a heavy snoring sound.

A feeling of fullness, heat, irritation, soreness or pain is generally experienced in the nostrils near the root of the nose, as well as in the upper part of the throat, above and behind the soft palate, and headache is rarely altogether absent. A distressing sensation of heavy weight or compression is usually complained of over the forehead, and especially in the region immediately above and between the eyes. Sometimes pain is obstinately fixed in some particular part, as in the temple, on the top of the head, at the back of the neck, or behind the orbits, and occasionally pain manifests itself in the face, of so severe a character that it is frequently mistaken for neuralgia.

The voice is generally affected and becomes hoarse, muffled, weak or uneven, and assumes a nasal character, or an unpleasant sniffling quality. Cough of variable severity is not infrequently one of the symptoms and results of Catarrh.

The breath is usually tainted, and assumes, at times an exceedingly fetid and sickening odor. In some cases it becomes so revoltingly offensive as to render the sufferer an object of disgust to himself as well as to others.

The sense of smell is usually blunted or entirely lost in Catarrh, and a similar effect on taste may be occasionally observed. The eyes are apt to become irritable, and disposed to water excessively on exposure to the cold or wind, and a sense of weariness of sight is usually experienced after slight exertions. Hearing not unfrequently becomes more or less impaired, and noises in the head very often add materially to the existing distress.

The stomach generally suffers more or less, and becomes weak and irritable; the appetite is capricious and is nearly always bad in the morning.

The patients generally complain of lassitude and fatigue, an incapacity for either physical or mental exertions, a feeling of weight and discomfort in the region of the stomach, and a constant disposition to drowsiness and sleep. The mental faculties are also sometimes slightly affected, loss of memory being more or less present.

Catarrh may prove fatal, either by debilitating the system and wearing out the patient, or by traveling downward, and producing consumption. This fact has been so repeatedly noticed that all experienced practitioners now look upon Catarrh as one of the most frequent and important causes of this complaint, but according to our extensive observation, it should always be regarded as a premonition, and one of the very earliest manifestations of Consumption.

A systematic, judicious and well directed course of treatment, such as we have for years employed in our practice, is sure to be followed by a permanent cure.
